FOREWORD

THIS is a book concerned with the contemporary scene at Mitchell and the actors that are making the scene. We have endeavored to make the book true and beautiful in the hope that in the years to come, turning its pages, you may recapture some of the adventure of your Mitchell days and rekindle memories of past friendships.

President's Message

To those who are graduating and who are receiving certificates from Mitchell in 1937—

DEAR STUDENTS:

As you go out from the halls of your Alma Mater, you go with her image engraved in your hearts and with the benediction of her ministry in your life. May you find in the primary assurances of her Christian teaching the answer to the ultimate questions of life; and may your personal trust in God rise to a personal fellowship with God until you can say in all life's experiences, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." I covet your continued friendship.

Sincerely yours,

Grace H. Ramsay

Class Poem

The columns we've loved; the circle we've trod,
With beauty drawing us nearer to God
Will changeless remain and will ever be
A symbol of all Time's infinity.

Now as onward we go, we bid adieu
To days filled with gladness and sorrow, too;
But your stately strength is a challenge divine
Calling an order of march on a God-given line.

Our Senior salutes rise in majestic swell
As we bid you a last fond hail and farewell;
And now beneath your serene over-shadowing oak
Our heartfelt benediction on you we invoke.

—CATHERINE SHERRILL.

Alma Mater

Here's to our Alma Mater, to you we sing;
Now, altogether let's make Mitchell ring;
Lessons learned at Mitchell will leave their seal;
And friendships formed there are true as steel.

Good luck to dear old Mitchell. To you we're true;
May skies above you forever be blue;
'Gainst the task before us we will prevail.
Three cheers for Mitchell. M. C. we hail.

All hail!
Hail to thee! Hail M. C.!
Mitchell! Mitchell dear!

In the belief that a vital part of education involves the ability to work with people as well as with books, the honor points are given for participation both in campus activities and in scholastic work.

SUE MCLEOD, great-granddaughter of Evelyn Alexander, a great-great-granddaughter of Mitchell.

MITCHELL COLLEGE

We, the Class of 1937, of Mitchell College, being of sound mind and possessed of vast amounts of property, both personal and in common, do hereby signify our intention of making our Last Will and Testament.

ITEM I

To Mitchell College we leave our love and appreciation for all that she has meant to us.

ITEM II

To the faculty, our esteemed friends, we bequeath a sweet succession of restful nights and peaceful days. They need no longer be worried with our ceaseless questions.

ITEM III

To the Freshmen, our envious friends, we bequeath our dignified ways and our position as honor guests at the Prom.

ITEM IV

The following personal bequests are made with the hope that the recipients will appreciate the intrinsic worth of each gift and the magnanimous spirit of each donor:

Elizabeth Arey leaves her pretty long hair, which is absolutely not store-bought to any ambitious freshman weary of artificial locks.

Miriam Bergeron bestows upon Mary Lily Foard her independent air.
Edna Fox Brown leaves her habit of always hurrying to Mary Leonard, hoping it will pep her up a little.

To Elizabeth Guigon, Julie Carpenter bequeaths her many long distance calls—not however, the caller.
Carolyn Carlton leaves her tendency to sleep during lectures to Mabel Pearce.
Dorothy Combs leaves her regular place in the library annex to any day student who may find it comfortable.

Mildred Davis wills her brilliance in French class to Margaret Crowell, hoping she can use it.
Kathleen Day leaves to Ann Amis her ability to stay up in her English assignment.
John Garrison bestows upon Jimmy Hughey his own original, personal opinions on all subjects.
To Jean Munday (lucky Freshman!) Peggy Gasteiger leaves her musical ability.
Eloise Gny leaves her willingness to be helpful to the entire Junior Class with hope that each member may profit by it.

Frances Herman wills her reputation as an artist to "Ceeb" Lazenby.
Ruth Huffman bequeaths her love for Davidson to Mary Lee Ellmore.
Zubie Ingle bequeaths her dignified demeanor to Nancy Bristol.
Ellen King wills her ability to make all "A's" to any ambitious Freshman.
Frankie Knight wills her ability to work to Ann Griffith.
Rebecca Knight leaves to Nancy Leinster her motto, "Better late than never."
Beth Laney leaves her unusual musical (?) ability to "pop" chewing gum to Helen Carrick.
Locke Long wills his ability to bluff all teachers into thinking "I am what I am not" to any freshman who thinks he can use it to advantage.
Eugenia Lynn bestows upon anyone who feels she may need it her permanent curls.
Antoinette Makely leaves to Rose Miller her library chair, reserved after 9:00 P.M.
Sarah McLelland leaves her energy and speed to Gwyn Crowell.
Sue McLeod leaves to Myra Rodman her undying love for the college campus.
Katherine Messervy leaves her sweet disposition and her ability to speak Charlestonian to Mary Alice Sides.

Doris Miller leaves her typewriter to anyone who is strong enough to fight for it as she has.
To Dorothy Kirkman, Louise Miller leaves her skill as a hair-dresser.
Mary Ann Miller leaves her place in the Senior Superlatives to Margaret Erb.
Martha Mills leaves to Margaret Copenhaver her ability to argue with Mrs. Eliason. (Do not ask why.)
Myrtle Morgan bequeaths her admiration for a certain dark-haired young man to any freshman who will respect the aforesaid admiration.
Margaret Morrison bequeaths her frank nature and friendly ways to Sarah Frances Alexander.
Stella Morrow leaves her senior dignity to Rachel Brown.
T. L. O'Kelley, Jr., leaves his intellectual abilities to the Wilson twins, realizing that he possesses enough for the two.

Clara Pou bequeaths her ambition to succeed Paderewski to Florence Guigon.
Ethel Raymer leaves all articles that she has lost in and around Mitchell to anyone who can find them.
Jack Raymer bequeaths the results of his research in chemistry lab to Miss Razor to be used for the enlightenment of the class and the benefit of humanity.
Catherine Sherrill wills to Frances Ramsey her pitiful ignorance of the laws of mathematical induction and the simple (?) theory of probability.
Hassie Mae Sherrill leaves to Jane Whitener her executive ability.
Mary Frances Summers leaves to Catherine Powers no less than two feet of her height.
Ora Thomason bequeaths her cosmetics to Margaret Speck, hoping she will like the blends.
Margaret Thompson bestows upon Carolyn Flowers her quiet dignity and her poise in presiding over meetings.

Bobbie Turner bequeaths her seat in chapel to Miriam Bonner, advising her to use it more often than the donor has done.

William Watts leaves his parking space behind the college to anyone who has a car to put in it.
James Weber, after thinking it over, refuses to depart with his unusual musical talent.
Iva Lee Webster bequeaths to Sarah Costner her quiet disposition, one that is labelled "Handle with care!"
Mary Agnes Webster wills to Frances Little her ability to type so rapidly that it sounds like rain.
Lily Pearl Williamson bequeaths her position as Editor-in-Chief to anyone who is acquainted with work and is not afraid to grapple with it.

Margaret Wood leaves her unbounded confidence in human nature to Mary Louise Robles.
Hereby revoking and making null and void all other wills and testaments heretofore made by us, in testimony whereof, we the Senior Class of Mitchell College do hereby set our hands and seal this twenty-fourth day of May in the year of your Lord, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven. Signed, sealed, and declared by the said members of the Senior Class to be their Last Will and Testament, in the presence of us who at their request do ascribe our names as witnesses unto.

ETHEL RAYMER, Testator.

Remember
The jolly old days of November;

And a banquet that fills
And a vacation that lasts
Till December.

DECEMBER

Christmas cheer and then
A monstrous kind of fashion show
That features only men.

And every Mitchell student
Crams and crams and crams.
Sure, we study every month
And week and day-and-well!
At least, in January our
Studying is swell!

In pageant is presented.
"Be my Valentine," he cried;
She blushing consented.
